

COUNTING HOPS, SKIPS AND JUMPS...

Here's a game that you can play at home with your children. If you have some dice, roll them out and see if your child is able to count the dots correctly (if you don't have dice, don't worry—you could count the members of your family or line up certain toys instead). When you have counted the number, you take turns to decide to count in hops, skips, jumps, wiggles, anything that comes to mind! If you count up, remember to count back down—don't forget to include zero in your counting too! There are lots of variations to this as you could count certain objects while out and about such as flowers, cars, and house doors before counting the number through claps, for example.

If you can, send in a little photo of you in action and let us know of any extensions or variation you have made to the game to make it even more interesting!
