

Outdoor activities.

Car Cleaning.

The coupe car wash has been very popular outside, and this week we were going to wash some of the grown up's Cars at nursery. Why not see if you can help a grown up at your house wash their Car?

You could even clean and polish the inside of the Car with a duster. If you cannot wash a grown up's Car why not fill a bowl with soapy water, take it outside and wash your toy Cars or toys...and hang them on the line to dry!.

Bug hunt.

We have had lots of fun in the nursery garden looking for bugs. Why don't you have a look around the garden at home to see if you can find any there? Can you describe what they look like, do they tickle your hand when you pick them up or are they slimy. Think about what they might like to eat and how many legs they have or do they have wings. Can you name the bugs you find in the garden? Can you draw pictures of the bugs?

Bathing our toys.

Caring for our dolls and teddy bears in nursery is something we all love. You could bath your babies or super heroes in the bath, kitchen sink or bowl of water. Remember to take special care when washing their hair and faces. Wrap them in a warm towel once you're finished and dry them thoroughly. You can dress them after their nice bath and maybe read them a bedtime story.

Listening for sounds.

Sit outside with your grown up in the garden or back yard take a pen and piece of paper with you. Listen carefully at what you can hear. Talk about what you can hear. Can you hear Cars drive past, birds singing or people talking? Using your pen make a mark on the paper to create a tally chart (like we practice in keyworker time). At the end of your listening activity count how many marks you have made. Did you hear lots of different sounds?

Natural collage pictures.

Collect as many objects as you can from outside. This can be anything from grass and leaves to flowers, stones or twigs. Using your materials you've found create a picture. You could glue the objects to paper or arrange them on the ground to make a larger scale masterpiece and then rearrange them again if you wish. Why not take a photograph of your art work and send it in?

